PRESIDENT DIRECTS CAMPAIGN TO "SELL" OPTIMISM TO NATION

Plans Public Talks; Tariff Commission Due
For Shake-up

WASHINGTON, June 21.—A determined Republican campaign, personally directed by President Hoover, and aimed at convincing uneasy business that things are really not as bad as they seem, was put under full steam today.

The reassuring statement on business conditions made by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon last night, simultaneously with the optimistic radio speech of Senator James E. Watson, the senate leader, were merely the opening guns of this campaign. Others will be fired at regular intervals while business endeavors to digest and assimilate the new tariff dish set before the country.

One of the next steps that will be taken, and before congress adjourns, is the reorganization of the U. S. tariff commission. There is to be a complete overhauling of this more or less moribund body, which has been the target for all kinds of criticism ever since the tariff act of 1922. New blood is to be brought in and the commission is to be energized from top to bottom.

And following this step, Pres. Hoover plans a few speeches to the country himself as to general business conditions and the outlook for the future. These will come when Mr. Hoover leaves the capital, probably in mid-July, for a leisurely swing through the country to the far west. The primary object of the president's trip is a rest and vacation from Washington, where he has had congress on his hands almost continually since his inauguration. Happily enough, the vacation affords an opportunity for the president to "go to the country" without seeming to go out of his way to defend his administration.

Throughout the summer there will be a steady hammering away on the thesis of "good business" and the "bright future" of the country. The agency of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, The Democrats have already accepted the issue and shaped their own plans accordingly.

Thus is the stage set for the war for control of the next congress—the Democrats attacking the administration's record, based on general business conditions and the future outlook, and the Republicans, perforce, defending. From a thousand stumps this battle will rage until November when the voters themselves will render the verdict.

Secretary Mellon's statement was the first he has made in some months concerning the business outlook. Throughout the period of depression and the successive crashes in Wall Street, Mellon has maintained a studious silence.

By inference, Secretary Mellon sought to place much of the responsibility for the recent depression upon the uncertainty produced by the fifteen months wrangling over the tariff bill.

"The enactment of this measure," said Mellon, "brings to an end fifteen months of uncertainty. Americans, industries, know now where they stand and will, I am confident, adjust themselves without difficulty to new conditions."

Secretary Mellon cautiously observed, however, that he did not "mean to imply that the bill is free from defects."

"No tariff bill is," he observed.

CRACKER COSTS EYE

NEWARK, O., June 21.—Eleven-year-old John Crawford lost the sight of one eye here today when a firecracker with which he was playing exploded.

BISHOP PEEVED?

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., who dared Representative George Holden Tinkham (R) of Massachusetts, to repeat his accusations against him off the floor of the house—a challenge which the congressman promptly accepted—was located here today at his desk at the Methodist Board of Temperance and Social Service.

Asked whether he intended to proceed with legal action against Tinkham, the Bishop snapped:

"I'll act in my own way. I will issue a statement when I get ready and in my own way, and I don't need the press to ask me about it, either."

That ended the interview.

STATE CANDIDATES GETTING IN ACTION FOR PRIMARY DRIVE

Vote Of Republican Sol-lons On Tariff Is Assailed

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—Today marks the close of the initial week of Ohio's pre-primary political campaign. Although candidates for state and local offices have been more or less active during this seven-day period, chief interest centered in the congressional campaign.

Utilizing the radio, the printed page and public gatherings, candidates continued their quest for coveted seats in congress. The tariff, unemployment and prohibition constituted the main topics of discussion.

Democratic state headquarters issued a statement in which Henry G. Brunner, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, took U. S. Senators Roscoe G. McCulloch and Simeon D. Fess, as well as the eighteen Republican congressmen from Ohio, to task for voting for the new tariff law passed by congress a few days ago. Characterizing these Ohioans as the "trucking twenty," Brunner accused them of surrendering to "special privilege" and declared that their support of the measure was "an outrage, based upon deception, hypocrisy and greed."

The Democratic organization of Cuyahoga County, according to a statement issued by W. B. Gongwer, chairman, will support the following Democratic candidates: for governor, George White, Marietta; for lieutenant governor, William G. Pickrel, Dayton; for attorney general, M. Ray Allison, Columbus; for U. S. senator, former congressman Robert J. Bulkley, Cleveland.

This list omits the names of the following Democratic candidates, all of Cleveland: for governor, Stephen M. Young; for lieutenant governor, Herbert B. Cuyler; for attorney general, Samuel Bürgert; for U. S. senator, George S. Myers. Relief that the men endorsed by the organization have a better chance for election next November is the explanation given by Gongwer.

The Republican state central committee, at its meeting here during the coming week is expected to give consideration to the question of selecting a successor to the late Mrs. Hugh T. Clark, Steubenville, as Ohio's G. O. P. national committee woman. It is not expected, however, that the committee will forward any recommendation to the Republican national committee until after the November election. The national committee is not scheduled to meet before next January, or February.

Arthur A. Nixon, Dayton, chairman of the Republican state central committee, announced that G. O. P. state headquarters will be opened soon in the Nell House here.

SHERIFF UNDER FIRE

FIRE SWEEPS ROYAL PALACE AT NAPLES; FEAR HEAVY DAMAGE

NAPLES, June 21.—Fire resulting from a short circuit broke out in the royal palace here today.

Fire apparatus from all over the city was rushed to the scene. Dense black smoke was pouring from the windows of the royal apartments on the south side of the courtyard.

The fire is believed to have started in an elevator shaft. It was discovered by servants, who immediately turned in an alarm and roused those occupants who still were sleeping.

The blaze had spread to considerable portion of the first and second floors by the time firemen arrived on the scene. Dense black smoke was pouring from the windows of the royal apartments on the south side of the courtyard.

It was feared considerable damage would be done to furniture, paintings and tapestries before the blaze could be extinguished.

CLEVELAND, June 21.—Armed with a court decree, a score or more of accountants will be sent to inspect the books and records of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, in preparation for a court battle to enjoin the merger of that concern with the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, Harry J. Crawford counsel for the merger opponents, declared today.

The books and records were ordered opened for inspection in a ruling handed down in common pleas court at Youngstown late yesterday by Judge David G. Jenkins. The ruling was regarded as an important victory for the anti-merger forces, who have waged a long and expensive legal battle to prevent the consummation of the union of the two steel concerns.

Data obtained from the Bethlehem books is expected to be used by attorneys for the anti-merger forces in a suit, scheduled for hearing in Youngstown on June 25, to enjoin the merger. The suit was filed by Myron C. Wick Jr., of Youngstown, and the International Shares Corporation, a concern affiliated with the interests of Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier who is leading the fight against the merger.

Plaintiffs in the case contend that the contents of the Bethlehem books are necessary in order to support their charges that the steel merger terms were fraudulently imposed upon stockholders of the Youngstown concern.

GINGER VICTIM

CINCINNATI, O., June 21.—"Jake Ginger" today was said to be the cause of the death of Sydney Kelly, 67, who died in General Hospital here yesterday afternoon.

DALLAS, Tex., June 21.—Slipping quietly from this city where she was discovered visiting incognito, Clara Bow was believed to be speeding toward an unannounced destination today.

After a five-day stay at a fashionable hotel, the vivacious, titillated movie star was whisked away late yesterday by friends who today closely guarded her whereabouts.

It was learned that Miss Bow failed to take a night train for Los Angeles as she had planned, and those close to her here refused to comment on reports that she took a later train for another destination.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., June 21.—Two miners today were recovering from injuries which they received yesterday when an explosion occurred in the back section of the Virginia Hill mine at Laferty, near here. Fourteen other men were also trapped in the mine but were released an hour after the explosion.

The explosion, according to Dewey Gimsley, a motorman, and Howard Parker, was caused by a spark from a motor which ignited some gunpowder and loose coal dirt. Gimsley and Parker were both burned slightly about the face and body.

MINERS INJURED BY MINE EXPLOSION

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., June 21.—Two miners today were recovering from injuries which they received yesterday when an explosion occurred in the back section of the Virginia Hill mine at Laferty, near here. Fourteen other men were also trapped in the mine but were released an hour after the explosion.

These "handicappers," weighing all the pros and cons and looking back over past golfing records throughout the years, laid odds of 50 to 1 that this Mr. Jones would not, as he hopes and intends to do, succeed in capturing all four major golf titles of the United

REMOVAL OF VILLAGE MAYOR BEING SOUGHT

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—Habitual drunkenness, misconduct in office and gross neglect of duty are allegations against Mayor Matthew W. Stutsen, 81, of West Jefferson, twelve miles west of here, in a petition on file today with Governor Myers Y. Cooper.

The petition was filed by about 200 citizens of West Jefferson who asked the governor to remove Stutsen from office. Cooper has invited Mayor Stutsen to attend a public hearing to be held at the governor's office July 7 relative to these charges.

Declaration that the mayor has been incapable and unfit to perform his official duties, since January first, because of drunkenness, is contained in the petition.

Madison County authorities recently made an unsuccessful effort to stop dog racing at West Jefferson. It was stated today, however, that the proceedings against the mayor are not connected with plans for halting the dog races.

GUNMEN SHOOT TWO AT BARBECUE STAND IN ROBBERY EFFORT

Pair Escape After Shooting; One Seriously Hurt

CLEVELAND, June 21.—Two men were shot and wounded, one of them seriously, during a terrific struggle with a pair of gunmen who sought to break into a west side barbecue stand here today.

The victims are Edward Eichler, 42, and Carl Ulrich, 21, owners of the barbecue stand. J. Eichler was shot through the lung, it was reported. His condition was said to be critical. Ulrich was shot in the right hand.

The would-be robbers escaped across vacant lots adjacent to the barbecue stand, police were told. A search dragnet was spread out over the district but no trace of the gunmen could be found.

Police were told that the two gunmen attempted to gain entrance into the barbecue stand through a screened window.

Awakened by the robbers ripping the screen, Eichler and Ulrich, who live in a room at the rear of their barbecue stand, rushed to the window just in time to meet the prowlers.

Ignoring a command to "stick 'em up," the two men grappled with robbers. During the struggle one of the gunman's weapons exploded. The bullet struck Eichler, entering his chest and lodging in his right lung. A second shot wounded Ulrich in the hand.

The gunmen, momentarily freed from the attack, jumped through the window and fled.

POLICE SEIZE OPIUM IN RAID

NEWARK, N. J., June 21.—Armed with axes and sledge hammers, police and firemen staged a spectacular "surprise" raid in Newark's Chinatown early today, battering their way through doors into fourteen opium dens, arresting seventy-five Chinese and seizing drugs valued at $20,000.

It was one of the most successful raids ever made in Newark's Chinatown, which has the reputation in the underworld of being the cache for narcotics throughout the eastern United States. The On Leon section was cleaned out with a swiftness that dazzled the vice overlords. In scurrying for exits to make a getaway, two men leaped from windows and were injured.

Boxer Dies After
Collapsing in Bout

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—Funeral arrangements are being made today for Wilbur Clark, 21, local amateur boxer, who died Friday night. His death was attributed to exhaustion resulting from his participation in a bout with Erwin Grace at a local park Thursday night. Clark collapsed at the end of six rounds. He was to receive $10 for taking part in the contest.

Clark was knocked down in the final round but he got up just as the bell sounded the end of the match.

REPORT 500 HURT
IN BOMBAY RIOTS

LONDON, June 21.—Five hundred persons were injured in the rioting that ensued when Bombay police broke up a huge Indian nationalist procession today at the Maidan Esplanade, according to a Central News dispatch.

The Indian National congress, the body which had staged the parade for review before Motilal Nehru, congress leader, called for an immediate general strike and stoppage of all business.

ARE LLOYDS ALARMED?

They Bet 50 To 1 Against Bobby Jones Taking Four Titles; He Already Has Two.

LONDON, June 21.—The famed "handicappers" of Lloyds, rated as the world's greatest experts on the law of averages and that elusive thing known as chance, considered the case of one Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Georgia, today, and maintained a studied silence.

These "handicappers," weighing all the pros and cons and looking back over past golfing records throughout the years, laid odds of 50 to 1 that this Mr. Jones would not, as he hopes and intends to do, succeed in capturing all four major golf titles of the United States and Britain this year. It is an open secret that Jones' remarkable victory in the British open yesterday, when with a score of 291 he added the open crown to his store of golfing treasures, has dealt the worthy gentlemen of the ancient and honorable firm of Lloyds a severe body blow.

If Jones now wins the American amateur and the American open, for both of which he is reigning favorite, Lloyds stands to lose at least $250,000, and that same amount will find its way into the pockets of a host of loyal Atlantians to whom in the lexicon of Jones there is no such word as chance.

RESUME DOG RACES

WEST JEFFERSON, O., June 21.—The dog races were again here today. Greyhound races were resumed at the West Jefferson Kennel Club's track Friday night, following a recess since June 5 when county officials raided the track and confiscated "evidence." ## CONCLUDES BLOODY BUSINESS AND WILL LEAVE SAYS LETTER

Police Say Killer May Be Alarmed; New
Clew Probed

NEW YORK, June 21.—The massacre maniac, who has killed and advertised, today decided to drop out of the picture.

In a final message to the public, he declared he had cleaned up his bloody business, recovered the missing "international secret documents," and was on his way back to Europe.

The farewell letter was received by the New York Evening Journal. The handwriting was the same as previous missives which were sent by the madman including the one in which he told of the murder of Noel Sowley on a Long Island road before Sowley's body was discovered.

However, police frankly scoffed at the statement from the killer that he had left the country. They pointed out that every avenue of departure had been carefully watched and that those obtaining passports had been carefully scrutinized.

In fact, authorities appeared encouraged by this latest development. They attributed the maniac's message to a real fear that he faced arrest and interpreted his "off for Europe" announcement as an attempt to throw a herring across the trail.

Meanwhile, with the two suspects arrested in Philadelphia and Newark having been failed to be identified by Catherine May and Betty Rng, the girls whose escorts were slain by the maniac, police turned their attention to a new angle.

Indication that the madman slayer may have been a former Brooklyn church worker was supplied by a minister who was impressed by the similarity of the handwriting of a missing member of his flock to that of the killer.

The church worker, who disappeared two months ago, had deplored that he was part of an international plot. He said he was a former secret service agent.

The latest letter from the massacre maniac will be compared today with handwriting samples of

SLAYER HAPPY WHEN ELECTROCUTED FOR SLAYING OF MINER

James Litterall Is Happiest Ever To Die
Is Said

COLUMBUS, O., June 21.—"Litterall was the happiest man I have ever seen die in the electric chair."

That statement was made today by Warden Preston E. Thomas of Ohio State Penitentiary here, as he commented on last night's electrocution of James E. Litterall, 42-year-old Athens County miner.

Litterall died in the electric chair a few minutes after 9 o'clock last night for the murder of Harry Green, coal miner of Nelsonville.

The slayer was baptized, at his own request, an hour before he died. The immersion was held in the baptismal of the Pentecostal church at which the Reverend Willis Stump, pastor of the Pentecostal Church here, officiated. He was assisted by the Reverend K. E. Wall, Protestant chaplain of the penitentiary.

Following the baptism, Litterall spent his last hour on earth in the "death cell" adjoining the "death house," which holds the instrument of death, in the company of the two ministers and L. L. Sweeney, a member of Reverend Stump's congregation.

Most of the time was spent in singing hymns. The last song which the group sang, at the request of Litterall, was "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder." Several prison guards who were stationed near the death cell, joined in the singing.

The convicted killer's last meal consisted of fish, mashed potatoes, tomato salad, creamed peas, rolls, jelly, coffee and ice cream and cake. The meal was prepared by Mrs. Thomas, the warden's wife, in accordance with a custom which she began several years ago.

Before he was taken to the penitentiary from the improvised "death row" at City Prison, Litterall was visited by his sister, Mrs. Nancy Ossman, of Nelsonville.

COUNTY DAIRY TOUR VISITS FIVE HERDS ALL DAY THURSDAY

Fifty Greene County dairymen and their families took part in the annual county dairy tour and picnic Thursday when a number of outstanding herds in Greene and Fayette Counties were inspected.

The Walter P. Thompson herd of Guernseys at Washington C. H. the group saw the highest scoring herd in the state, according to the state dairy inspector. This herd produces milk with an average test of 5.5 per cent butter fat and is sold at a premium of 3c per quart on the retail market at Washington C. H. Since joining the Greene County Dairy Improvement Association in January the returns per dollars worth of feed have increased from $1.34 to $1.85. The herd average for the first five months of the year is 147.9 pounds butter fat and 316.4 pounds milk.

At the F. M. Woods herd at Bowlersville feed grinding equipment, sanitary milk house and open shed feeding were observed. Mr. Woods' returns per dollar's worth of feed have increased from $1.76 to $2.15 in the last four months. The F. E. Wilson herd of Jerseys is leading the association this year. Last year this herd averaged 427.8 pounds of butter fat. The returns per dollar's worth of feed were $2.41, the feed cost per pound butter fat 20c and feed cost per hundred pounds of milk $1.00.

At the A. E. Beam farm a concrete barn lot and barn remodeled for dairy purposes was seen. By studying the production of his cows Mr. Beam has been able to materially cut his feed cost while at the same time increase production. Here the feed cost per pound of butter fat was 25c and the feed cost per 100 pounds of milk $1.11. The Lawrence Alexander herd of Spring Valley was high herd in the Clark County Dairy Improvement Association with an average of $425.5 pounds of butter fat. A number of cows in this herd are on advanced registry test.

Frank Wolf's herd of registered Holsteins was next visited and the sanitation in the barn and dairy observed. Mr. Wolf sells his milk direct to the consumer. At the O. S. and O. Home radical changes in the dairy have been recently made both in feeding and in physical equipment. The first month after joining the Association the consumption of feed was decreased from 7 tons to 4 tons per month and the production of milk increased, according to O. K. Probasco, who is in charge of the dairy.

All of the herds visited were members of dairy improvement associations. Ivan McKellip, dairy production specialist of Ohio State University was with the tour and led the discussion on various phases of dairyming. At noon a picnic dinner was held in the A. E. Beam grove.

MUSICAL REVUE IS ABLY PRESENTED BY JAMESTOWN GROUP

"Sailing" a musical and dance revue staged and directed by Miss Leontine Jenks of Jamestown was presented at the Jamestown Opera House Friday evening.

Much talent and training was shown in the production. "Anchors Aweigh," the opening chorus, was sung by a group of sailor boys. The stage setting was on the deck of a ship with the boys dressed as sailors. Max Conklin, Springfield, formerly of Jamestown, led the chorus. A group of girls, also dressed as sailors with their captain, Miss Betty Moorman, joined in the singing.

Among the players were several Xenians, including Robert Owens, Archer Maxwell, Lucille Denham and Dorothy Carter.

The program was divided into two parts. An interesting feature was two dance numbers by Helen Alkire, Columbus, who gave a Parisian acrobatic specialty in the first part of the program and a toe dancing number in the second part. Mildred Carney of Springfield, gave a tap dancing specialty in the first part of the program.

Dance pupils of Miss Jenks' presented were: Martha Ann Baughn, Mildred Sams, Margaret Eldora Baughn, Marjorie Moorman, Marjorie Collett, Edwina Weimer, Kevin O'Brien and Johnnie Jenks.

Song specialties were sung by Robert Owens and Archer Maxwell, Xenia; Max Conklin, Springfield; Betty Moorman, Gene Gordon, Loma Lee O'Brien, Carrie Sharp, Helen Reeves and Una May Carlisle.

Miss Leontine Jenks, the directress, gave a specialty number, "The Vagabond Waltz." Willard Doster and Floyd Badgley were presented in a black face act. Misses Lucille Denham and Dorothy Carter gave a fifteen minute "radio program" act, booked as "Dot and Dash."

The staff for the production consisted of Miss Leontine Jenks, director, Robert Owens, Xenia, assistant director, Archer Maxwell, Xenia, designer and executor of scenery, Floyd Badgley and Max Jenks assistants, Leo Huston, stage manager and Misses Leontine Jenks, Una May Carlisle, and Lucille Denham, pianists.

CLUBS SPONSOR COMMUNITY JULY FOURTH CELEBRATION

Following an annual custom inaugurated a year or so ago, the Xenia Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs are planning to sponsor a community Fourth of July celebration in Shawnee Park this year that is designed to be bigger and better than ever.

A tentative program has been outlined for the Independence Day gathering. The afternoon entertainment will commence at 2 o'clock with music and a speaker for the occasion, whose address will be delivered in the park pavilion at 2:30 o'clock, will also be obtained. There will be a softball double-header on the Cox Athletic Field diamond and the teams which will compete in the twin bill will be decided upon later.

Contests and sports for the youngsters will be available in the afternoon and from 5:30 p. m. on refreshments will be furnished the public by women of various community organizations at nominal prices.

The evening program will be featured by a fireworks display which is expected to be even more elaborate than last year, and also a dance in the park auditorium at 8

PLEADS NOT GUILTY WHEN ARRAIGNED

Charged with trespassing on the Bryan state farm and pointing firearms at B. R. Skinner, caretaker of the property, Robert Mendenhall, 47, of 602½ S. Yellow Springs St., Springfield, pleaded not guilty to each charge when arraigned before Judge E. D. Smith in Municipal Court Saturday morning. His bond was fixed at $500 and his hearing is assigned for next Thursday morning.

The alleged offense occurred last November. Skinner asserted that Mendenhall and a companion were hunting on the state farm and that when he ordered them to leave he Springfield man menaced him with a shotgun and refused to comply with the order.

Skinner filed an affidavit in the court of R. O. Copey, former Xenia Twp. justice of the peace, and Mendenhall was apprehended by Springfield police last Wednesday night as a fugitive from justice. He was returned to Xenia Friday by L. A. Davis, county road patrolman, and Special Deputy E. J. Wilkins, and new affidavits were filed by the caretaker.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

JUST BEFORE GOD—But that no man is justified by the law in the sight of God, is evident: for, The just shall live by faith.—Gal. 3:11.

"ALL CLEAR" NOW

With the tariff bill enacted, a principal obstacle in the way of economic recovery and return to normal national prosperity and advancement disappears.

There never has been anything deeply wrong with the country. It receives a little shakeup, and then it becomes the victim of dilatory and cheap politics in the senate, which brought on unnatural depression. For months the wrong-headedness of members of that body made the land the victim of a haunting fear lest in the end congress do something foolish or even destructive. But with that fear gone, with a safe and sane tariff in black and white, nothing visible prevents the flashing of an effective go-ahead signal.

For the new tariff law really is both safe and sane in spite of the shortcomings and defects inseparable from any general revision. It may be made the object of continuing attacks from professional opponents of the administration. There may still be a certain amount of outcry from foreign countries that have been encouraged by the conduct of the senate, and want to make America a dumping place for cheap goods. Some American manufacturers, who have established factories abroad in the hope that by employing cheap labor there they could ship goods back to this country and undersell domestic made articles, may feel disgruntled. But, as Mr. Hoover demonstrates in his statement, the facts and figures show that the furor, and much of the more substantial criticism have been based on wind and error.

The average level of the new tariff schedules is not higher than those which have preceded it. On the contrary, the level is very moderate. The proportion of imports that will be free from duty is bigger than those under former protective laws. The increases are largely directed toward the interests of the farmer, the tariff commission reporting that 93.73 per cent are upon products of agricultural origin measured in value; and consequently the measure as a whole is a substantial fulfillment of the party pledge which helped carry the Republican ticket into power in 1928. Also the flexible tariff provision is of such a nature that emergency situations, due to changing trade or economic conditions, may be met with a promptitude and effectiveness never before possible. All of which is quite unlike the terrible picture enemies of the bill have tried to impress on the public mind.

Of course, the tariff law is unpleasing to those who cry crazily for free trade, or are more solicitous for the prosperity of other countries than they are for the prosperity of their own. But those individuals would have any protective tariff law and sufficient reply to their objections is found in the fact that no people ever has prospered except under a system of protection suited to their particular world situation. The famous free trade policy of Great Britain helped a small group at the top, but the American worker knows what it did to the British worker. It gave him semi-starvation wages before the war, and since then it has given him the dole. On the other hand, the American protective tariff system has made this country what it is economically. It has made the manufacturer prosperous, it has given the worker his wage, and it is now taking care of the farmer. Every departure from the principle of protection in this country has brought trouble, and some have brought bad disaster.

A person who is honest because it pays to be honest, remains honest only until he thinks he was mistaken in his belief.

One of life's mysteries is the reason why any man wants to be chairman of the national committee of any party.

It is hard to understand why anybody should want to be made poet laureate; but versifiers are curious people.

Another reason for giving the farmer a square deal is the fact that if he quits, we don't eat.

WISE SMALL TOWNS

State highway departments report that many small towns now wish to be taken off the main highways. A few years ago nothing irritated the town folk more than to have the big road routed around them. Finally they have become tired of being knocked down by transcontinental speedsters. They are also tired of the endless monotony of the traffic line. Automobiles are more useful than ever, but not so exciting to look at as they once were.

SEEING NEW WORLDS

Gar Wood, famous as a motor boat owner and racer, is interested in a new device for penetrating the immeasurable miles of space among the planets and the stars. In this case, however, light and not man will be the traveler. Wood, with others, plans the building of a new telescope which will have a mirror 300 inches in diameter. This is almost three times the size of the great mirror in California. But there is a greater difference than in mere size. Wood's mirror will be made of stainless steel instead of glass. A glass mirror cannot be built of such huge size. Steel can. Shall we look far into the Moon? Shall we learn the secrets of Mars?

LEARN TO SPELL

If you can't spell, don't accept it as a trick of fate, and do nothing about it. If you are grown up it may be harder, but it can be done. And neither the child nor the school system is to be excused if pupils in the grades do not learn to spell. Spelling may be a "gift" with some, but it can be learned by anybody who is not too lazy to try.

And now let's take especial notice of the case of Helen Jensen, 13-year-old winner of the national spelling bee held in Washington. She won $1,000. That means Helen can go to high school. Her mother thought Helen would have to go to work, but now she can continue with her education. Here is a case in which spelling paid large dividends.

WHAT ADVERTISING CAN DO

Advertising leaders, assembled in Washington, do well to listen when they are told of the possibilities of advertising to keep peace of the world. Dr. Rowe, director general of the Pen-American Union, told delegates:

"On the character of advertising American products which you place in the newspapers of Latin America, depends to a very considerable extent their faith in the trustworthiness and honesty of our merchants and manufacturers.

"Your record in this respect does honor to your federation and has meant a real service to the international relations of the United States."

What is the chief occupation of the natives of the Barbados? Barbados is chiefly an agricultural island, 74,000 of its total 106,470 acres being under cultivation. The chief products are sugar and cotton.

How Many Autos?

How many automobiles are there in the United States? There were 24,493,124 automobiles registered in the United States in 1928 out of a world total of 32,028,584. There is estimated to be one car for every five persons in this country, and one for every 61 persons in the world.

Solar Diameter

How many times greater than the diameter of the earth is the sun's diameter? The sun's diameter is 864,100 miles, or 109.1 times the earth's. The average distance of the sun from the earth is 92,897,400 miles.

Early Highways

What was the first highway in the United States? The first important road in the United States, according to the highway education board, was the old York road between New York and Philadelphia, established by the colonies in 1711. The first plan to reorganize the commission to build and operate a toll road was the Philadelphia & Lancaster Turnpike company. It was incorporated in Pennsylvania in 1792 and had a road from Philadelphia to Lancaster, a distance of 62 miles. The road was later taken over by the state.

Bowlegs

What makes a child bowlegged? This condition is due to allowing the child to walk too early, to rickets, or, in some cases, to muscular contraction before the child is put on his feet.

SERVICE

New York is waiting with bated breath the advent of the first enterprising bootlegger who'll go to the radio with a Rum Running Hour.

With the competition that exists among these billionnaires, some such expedient will have to be adopted.

Among the circulars that clutter the morning mail, the Duchess came across the following advertisement, the other morning, on the back of check-book blotter:

"Jack and Jill announce the opening of an uptown branch under the personal supervision of Jill, well-known metropolitan distributors of 'You Know What' at popular prices. Our merchandise is analyzed and tested and immediate delivery is assured. Gin, $125 a quart. Scotch, 4 bucks. Rye, two fifty. Jack and Jill day and night service."

ACQUIRED TASTE

Longacre Lil went to the theatre the other night with a Visiting Fireman. In Reubens, after the show, the lad leaned across the table, looked into Lil's ash bud eyes and said:

"Little girl, do you think you could learn to love me?"

"Why not, sweetie?" she replied

"I learned to like olives!"

TIME WILL TELL!

STRENGTHENING OF POWER COMMISSION PROVIDED IN SENATOR COUZENS' BILL IS PLAN OF COMMISSION'S SOLICITOR

By CHARLES F. STEWART

WASHINGTON.—Solicitor Charles A. Russell of the federal power commission is the practical expert back of Senator James Couzens' plan to reorganize the commission to make it, in its time, an even more important commission than the interstate commerce commission is today—under which the interstate commerce commission has struggled for upwards of 40 years, and is not rid of yet.

The plan's assumption is that the power industry, ere long, will be as interstate in its character as the railroad industry is now—that is, in one way or another, mostly so. Considering the rate at which all industry's dependence on power is increasing, it does not strain the imagination unduly to provision an era when its importance will, indeed, overshadow the railroads—when it simply will include the transportation industry among its dependents, in fact. Of course the body which regulates it (the reorganized federal power commission of the Couzens plan) will be correspondingly important.

But the handicap—which has hampered the interstate commerce commission for so long—which Solicitor Russell considers it so vital for the power commission to escape. The essential part of the interstate commerce commission's job is, and always has been, to fix railroad rates. These rates have to be based on the amount of money invested in the railroads—high enough to enable the people who put it in to get a reasonable percentage in dividends; not so high as to mulct the railroads' customers unreasonably. And it never has been possible to determine just how much the railroads really did cost to build. There has been a vast deal of juggling of accounts and stock watering, for one thing—a deliberate attempt to make it appear that investments were far larger than they actually were, in order to justify dividends on millions of purely imaginary capital. However, the principal disagreement has been over fluctuations in the value of money—not the amount invested, but what it represented.

As we know, money is cheap at present—or prices are high, to express it that way. For every dollar spent in railroad-building just before the war, the same material or labor today would cost about two dollars. Inasmuch as only a dollar was spent, the public generally feels that a dollar is all it ought to be expected to pay dividends on; but the folk who spent it contend that a dollar meant just as much then as two dollars means now, so they are entitled to dividends on two dollars.

This difference of opinion is largely responsible for the recent bitter wrangling over President Hoover's appointments to the U. S. supreme court. So-called progressives demand justices who favor dividends only on actual investments. So-called conservatives demand justices who favor dividends on what investments represented when they were made, in buying power.

The popular viewpoint in the 1920's and thus far in the 1930's has been that the conservatives have not a leg to stand on, but people who think so may change their minds presently. They have changed them once already, though nearly everyone seems to have forgotten it. In the early 1890's money was not cheap. It was dear—meaning that prices were very low. Twenty-five a week was a nice income then, for a man with a family. At that stage of the game the railroads, which had done a lot of their previous building during a period when prices were much higher, said they ought to be allowed to draw dividends on the basis of their investments, but the public said, "Oh, no; they ought to be based on what money is worth at present. The rates you want are ridiculous."

For years the government has been trying to settle this railroad valuation problem, and it probably never will be settled, because there was no mutual understanding at the outset, and the valuation rate changes faster than the interstate commerce commission and the courts can decide on figures. Solicitor Russell of the power commission wants to have an agreement reached, in the case of the power industry, while the industry is young—before its arithmetic gets so complicated that no one can keep up with it.

His solution is to have the commission and the power companies start, from a definite date, with a hard-and-fast agreement on the exact value of each power plant then in existence—its value at that particular time, in proportion to the value of other things. And then have that agreement kept up to the minute—with due regard for all fluctuations—but with the initial index always available for comparison.

Once let valuations get thoroughly out of hand and run wild, in the power industry, as has happened in the railroad industry, and the jangling over rates will be something terrible in the next few years, predicts Solicitor Russell.

If the tendency were constantly upward or continuously downward, it would not be so bad. Fluctuation—the churning process—is what plays the mischief.

WATER MEASURER ON THE JOB

The faint voice drew nearer. Peter could hear it more plainly now. But to whom did it belong? Still the boy could see nobody but Brown Beetle. Then he happened to glance idly at the floating stick and saw that it was no stick at all, but an insect walking on the surface of the pool on little legs as fine as hairs. Evidently it was this strange little creature who had been talking. My, but Peter was astonished. The "stick" continued the conversation with the beetle.

"I am glad to meet you, Brown Beetle. My work doesn't leave me much time to spend with my friends. Although I do have to give some attention to my relatives. There's Pond Skater, for instance. That cousin of mine is forever pestering me to teach him how to measure the pool. And the Spring Tails are so anxious to learn they beg me to open a school, but I can't be bothered. In the first place they just will not do exactly as I tell them. They move too fast and that is fatal in my job. Yes, I saw your wife, Brown Beetle, and she's just around the turn, about fifteen legs' lengths away. As I passed she told me to tell you she had some important news for you."

"Found a location for our new home, likely," muttered Brown Beetle. "Well, I must be off. Nothing very good ever comes of keeping ladies waiting. By the way, Measurer, meet my boy friend, and if you have the time to spare, tell him about your work. He is interested."

"It's like this," declared Water Measurer, as Brown Beetle dove out of sight below the surface of the water. "My legs are a certain length, and after I have walked on the water for a certain distance, stretching them out as far as they will go, and counting the steps I have taken, I know just how far I am from the place where I started."

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

"DEAR DOCTOR: Recently, in your column, you quoted Mrs. A., who asked 'Can scarlet fever repeat itself in five to seven years in a strong individual?' and your answer was, 'No, nor in a weak individual.' I know that it can repeat itself, as two of my children had it for the second time within five years."

"MRS. B."

Evidently I didn't make myself clear, Mrs. B. What I meant was that the disease didn't lie latent in the body for any length of time and flare up a second time. If the disease does occur a second time, it is a fresh infection, not an old case. This can happen, but it is not common, for usually the immunity that the body manufactures to overcome the disease lasts throughout life. The same is true of smallpox. There are other diseases in which, instead of a more or less lasting immunity being conferred, there is a susceptibility to the disease produced. For instance, one who has had pneumonia is more liable to contract it again.

"Dear Doctor: I am 45 years old and the mother of six children. I hope after reading this letter you won't think I'm vain, but I just want to look human. I have never had the time nor the money to spend on creams and lotions. My skin is dry and beginning to show its age. I went to a beauty parlor and the creams and lotions the said were necessary for me to put my skin in good shape, cost $22.50. As I couldn't possibly afford such an expenditure, my husband suggested I write to you, as he strongly suspects the cream and lotions business is something of a racket. Please answer me."

MRS. S.

"Your husband is right, Mrs. S. That it is not necessary to pay a lot of money for expensive creams and lotions. The simplest cold creams have just as much effect as the expensive ones. There is no cream that will take out wrinkles, or that will 'nourish' the skin, or anything else like that.

The chief value of cold cream is that it softens the skin and makes it smooth and pliable. The fact of the matter is, that a glycerine solution (one-fourth glycerine, three-fourths plain or rose water) will make the skin more pliable and keep it in better condition than most creams. There is no doubt that proper massage does help the muscle and skin tone, but you can learn how to do that yourself after a few visits to a reliable beauty parlor. To be really effective, such massage should be begun in youth, before the skin loses its elasticity, and kept up for the rest of the life. Just how much of the elasticity of the skin can be regained after it is lost, is questionable.

Ice cold water and ice applications, once or twice a day, are no doubt of benefit in toning up the skin. All the hygienic laws, and especially the right diet, that go to make for good health, have a great bearing on the good condition of the skin as they do on the other organs.

It's a good idea to go to a beauty parlor to learn how to skillfully apply the powder and a little rouge which are so necessary to make a woman look well-groomed. A skillful application of these agents will make a woman look five or ten years younger. I really look upon it as a duty to use them. It's a good idea to get one of those hand mirrors that have on one side a magnifying glass, and to always examine oneself in it after make-up to be sure there is not too much, for too much makes a woman look older and harder, rather than the reverse.

We have an article on Balanced Diet which you may have, if you are interested. See column rules.

Editor's Note: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column in their turn. Requests for articles or pamphlets on hand must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, plus the following small charge to help cover cost of printing and handling: for each article wanted, two cents in coin; for each pamphlet, ten cents in coin. The pamphlets are Reducing and Gaining, Hygiene of Women, Kidney and Bladder Disorders. Address Dr. Peters, care of this paper. Write legibly and not over 200 words.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

M. B.: Pretty hard to tell whether a man loves a girl unless one can see them together and can judge by his actions and looks, my dear. I should judge the boy friend surely cared something for you, as he has given up all other friends for you, and asked you to marry him, and if he continues to do so, I should think you could be fairly sure of him. Maybe never asking for specific dates and just appearing, as it were, when he has a chance, is just what you want. Rather unsatisfactory, I should think. Can't you tell him you would rather know when to expect him?

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: Is it all right to give my forehead a birthday present, because she seems so nice to me? I haven't been working there very long."

WONDERING ROSIE

Why not send her a pretty card with a nice verse or sentiment on it, Rosie? That would please her very much, and would not make her feel under any obligation to you. Of course, if all the girls under her care contributed toward something for her, that would be nice, but it is really best not to do that.

for birthdays, only for Christmas or some special occasion like that.

ONESOME GIRLS: The way to be a good pal with a sunny face and pleasant appreciative manner when with them.

About you other questions, if the boys want to know you girls they will find a way to meet you. It will only do just them and make you seem like p to ask them to take you anywhere, or even to speak if you have a "pen thrown together so that you kn one another." If one of you knows the boys—one well and the other only slightly—maybe sometime not too far off, she will have a chance to introduce them to her chum and that will give the boys a chance to ask for dates if they wish.

HEART BROKEN: If the ring is a valuable one I'd ask for it again and, not getting it, would tell my parents about it and ask them to get it for me, and return his. I'm afraid you made a mistake in loving him. He acts like a cad to me, dear, so try not to grieve too much for the loss of his "love."

How To Achieve Beauty

By GLAYS GLAD

"DEAR MISS GLAD: I have found that by using the curling fluid described in your 'Beauty Culture' booklet, it is possible for me to set my permanent wave myself. However, the permanent has grown out about three inches, and I find it difficult to retain a wave in the straight portion of my hair. Can you aid me?"

"ANN HARRIS."

Apparently you are not making a sufficiently deep impression upon the straight portion of your hair to insure its retaining the wave. Apply the curling fluid and give your hair a regular finger wave, waving the straight hair as well. After you have completed the finger wave, insert combs in the waves where the permanent has grown out. This will help to give a clearer, more lasting wave to the habitually straight part of your hair.

"Dear Miss Glad: My blood circulation is extremely sluggish, and I have been advised to take deep breathing exercises daily to stimulate it. Can you give me any such exercises?"

YVETTE"

Your first act each morning, after rising, should be to take breathing exercises. In a loose garment, with bedroom windows wide open, do the following exercises:

Stand with feet almost together. Place the backs of the hands together behind you, arms down. Then take a long inhalation, holding the breath as you raise the arms above the head, lifting the chin at the same time, so that when the arms are high over the head, the head itself is tilting backward. As you inhale, bring the head to normal position, and drop the arms in a wide circle. It is advisable to part the teeth as you exhale, and let the breath escape in a sizzling sound through the teeth.

Deep breathing can be done as you walk. Inhale with four steps, and exhale in the same number.

"Dear Miss Glad: I am glad to say that the shades of cosmetics that you suggested with my general coloring. However, I have one more problem. My eyes bulge slightly. Is there any way of applying make-up to the eyes to render this bulging less prominent?"

In applying make-up to the eyes, consider that must be your first concern. Use eye cosmetics very lightly for daytime wear, and more heavily for evenings. Eyes that bulge are, perhaps, the most difficult type to make up. However, they can be given the effect of being deeper if an eye shadow cream is blended over the entire eyelid. The eye shadow cream should be applied more heavily on the area between the crease and the lashes. You neglected to inform me as to the color of your eyes. However, if your eyes are brown, I would advise you to use a brown shade of eye-shadow cream. If your eyes are blue, use the black shade. A bit of carefully applied mascara will further enhance the attractiveness of the eyes. Use the shade of mascara corresponding to the shade of your eye-shadow cream.

EDITOR'S NOTE: While it is possible for Miss Glad to answer beauty questions by mail, she will be happy to send you her pamphlet on "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture" if you will write her, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin, for each, to cover cost of printing and mailing. Personal questions on beauty will be answered through Miss Glad's department.

The Xenia Playground Association, which is sponsoring summer games in Xenia this summer, is approaching what may be termed a financial crisis.

Before the season opened a considerable sum of money was raised through voluntary subscriptions to cover a portion of the season's expenses, the major item of which is the cost of new balls. Two new balls are used for each game. Balls as well as funds are running low.

It has been suggested that a benefit softball game be arranged with some strong team of a nearby city to which a small admission fee could be charged, the proceeds of which would be used to defray actual expenses for the balance of the season. The proposal has its merits and if an attractive exhibition contest could be arranged there is little doubt but that fans would respond generously by patronizing the tilt in large numbers.

In any event this plan seems like the best available solution of the problem as the playground association under no circumstances will solicit funds, although, of course, any more voluntary donations will be cheerfully accepted.

There is this season and always has been in Xenia a dearth of left-handed softball pitchers. A south-paw hurler would be a novelty. Bill Baxley, manager of the Lang Chevrolet Co. team, which has been playing a number of inter-city games this season, says that the only pitcher his team has run up against pitched for the Herald printers of Washington, C. H. Forkhanders twirlers theoretically have an edge on left-handed batters just as right-handed pitchers are supposed to be one up on right-handed batters. That idea might be true in baseball but probably isn't in softball as curving the ball is a lost art in local "kitten ball" circles.

Bobby Jones is one of the golfing immortals. Rarely off his game Bobby is like a machine. He annexed his tenth major title when he won the British open championship Friday. Pros and "simon pures" all look alike to the peerless Bobby. Recently Bobby won the British amateur title for the first time, and in the British open tourney he beat the stars of the world in what was virtually the world's championship in England, where pros and amateurs fought it out.

It is strange that Adolph Luque, veteran Cuban pitcher for Brooklyn, is seemingly able to beat the other clubs in the National League with ease but when he pitches against his former teammates, the Cincinnati Reds, he is unable to win. After winning six straight games Luque was beaten for the first time by the Reds at Brooklyn, 5 to 6, last Thursday. Cincinnati again turned the trick, beating the Cuban, 5 to 0. If Luque's hopefulness had only Luque's pitching to contend with all season they would probably win the pennant.

NO ADVANCE "MAN"

CHAUTAUQUA'S "advance man" this year is a woman.

For the first time since Redpath Chautauqua has been coming to Xenia, advance arrangements are in charge of a woman agent.

Miss Rebekah Leimbogd is furnishing proof that the ability to carry on the advance business of a chautauqua program is not peculiar to the masculine sex.

Miss Leimbogd has had considerable experience with Redpath, advance agents being used as advance agents by the company on other circuits, although introduced to this circuit for the first time this year. She will leave Xenia Monday.

SOLDIERS ROUTED BY KI-RO IN AMERICAN LEAGUE FRACAS 28-1

The height of something or other was reached when the Kiwanis Rotary softball team routed Company L by the top-heavy score of 28 to 1 in an American League game Friday night at Cox Athletic field.

The victory elevated the Ki-Ro nine to second place in the league standing, one full game in the rear of the league-leading Krippendorf team.

Ki-Ro assailed the output of Burnett, Company L pitcher, for twenty-five hits. The eighth inning was the most hectic of the season when fourteen batters stepped to the plate, ten hits were made and ten Ki-Ro runs were scored.

On the other hand Ki-Ro played a bang-up game in the field behind the excellent pitching of Russ Kimmer, who yielded only six hits. He was deprived of a shutout victory when the guard unit team tallied its lone run in the third round on a double by Pitcher Burnett and an error, one of the two miscues made by the winners.

LANGS DEFEATED BY WILMINGTON TEAM IN WEIRD CONTEST

Locals Collapse In Field To Permit 18 To 16 Victory

Overcoming a seven-run lead the Clinton Supply Co. softball team of Wilmington, came, saw and conquered the Lang Chevrolet Co. nine, leader of the local National League, by a margin of 18 to 16 in a weird exhibition game on the Washington Park diamond Friday night.

Passing from the sublime to the ridiculous, Langs collapsed, defensively and otherwise went on a tear to pieces after making no less than ten errors and at that the scorekeeper was probably charitable.

The Xenia team was strong as ever at bat, rapping out twenty-four hits, including six doubles, a triple and three home runs, and outlasted the Wilmington outfit by a substantial margin. But the visitors made only two misplays and collected fifteen hits, of which four were doubles, three were triples and one was a four-bagger.

Indications were at the start of the game that Langs would win in a walk as the local entry scored two runs in the first inning and five more in the second while Wilmington was being held hitless and runless.

In the third round Wilmington came suddenly to life and bunched five hits with two errors to score six runs. From then on the game became ragged.

Harry Williams started on the mound for Langs and was relieved in the seventh by John Hurley. Pierson pitched throughout for Wilmington. Box score:

SWIM BY FLOYD ZIMMERMAN

LESSON TWELVE
In taking a standing front dive get all the spring possible out of the board, a good lift from your shoulders, hands locked overhead, toes pointed and legs together when entering the water.
Be very careful not to bend your knees.
You must keep your hands locked and your arms straight because a clean entry means a good dive.
A common mistake for a beginner is to spring out instead of up. To correct this is to go up a little higher before straightening out.
This will cause you to come in closer to the board.

STRIBLING KNOCKS OUT NORWEGIAN IN FIRST AT CHICAGO

Von Porat 122nd Kayo Victim Of Georgia Boy

CHICAGO, June 21.—Young Stribling of Georgia took his place as one of the foremost contenders for the newly-won crown of Max Schmeling today by virtue of his one-round knockout which he administered last night to Otto Von Porat, heavy-hitting Norwegian.

Von Porat, to the surprise of 20,556 spectators, a world's record for an indoor professional contest audience, took his place as the Georgian fighter's one hundred and twenty second knockout victim before the ten-round battle had really gotten under way.

A crushing left to the point of the chin felled the lanky Norwegian for the count of ten. Oddly enough it was the same left that was in a cast a few days back. It was this same left that won Stribling a two-day postponement of the bout. This was the first knockout Von Porat suffered since he met Martin Burke in 1926.

Von Porat showed signs of nervousness when the two fighters came to the center of the ring for instructions. Stribling, on the other hand, appeared nonchalant. At the bell Stribling rushed with his left and jabbed the Norwegian's face. The Georgian forced the fight from the outset, apparently bewildering Von Porat by his rush.

In the clinches Stribling displayed his experience to good stead by tying up the Norwegian's punishing right arm. Stribling slashed Von Porat with a hard right to the head, spinning the Norwegian about. As Von Porat backed away Stribling caught him with a left which landed flush on the chin and knocked Otto out for the count of ten.

ARREST ONE AFTER AUTO ACCIDENT IN WHICH THREE HURT

Edward Scott, 1708 Hammond Ave., Canton, O., faces a charge of intoxication as an aftermath of an auto accident on the Wilmington Pike, four miles from Xenia, Friday night in which three persons received injuries.

The crash occurred when a sedan owned by Scott and occupied by Elizabeth Davis, colored, 701 S. Front St., Hamilton; William and Helen McGinnis, colored, rear of Dunbar Ave., Dayton, and two small girls, children of Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis, collided with a truck driven by Crampton Lott, Stone Road, farmer.

Lott told L. A. Davis, county road patrolman, who investigated that he was driving out onto the highway from the home of Glen Devoe and that he stopped before reaching the pike. He said he saw Scott's machine coming down a hill, traveling toward Wilmington, but that it was sixty yards away and he thought he could make the turn safely.

The sedan which was driven by William McGinnis, crashed into the truck and spun it around but neither vehicle upset. Lott suffered probable fractures of several ribs on the left side and Scott sustained a deep gash on the head while one of the small girls in his car had a tooth knocked out.

Scott was placed under arrest on a charge of drunkenness. The sedan was enroute to Hillsboro.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 21.—Stocks, grain and cotton were again under heavy selling pressure at the week end. In the stock market, a bear raid, directed with vigor against the blue-chip industrial, forced prices of United States Steel, American Can and other pivotal shares to the lowest levels of the year, breaking under the bottom prices as recorded in Wednesday's reaction.

Further reactions in commodities, with indifferent progress of the business recovery, set the stage for another bear crack on the stocks that have proven vulnerable to raids of this kind.

CHAUTAUQUA TICKET HUNT TO BE MONDAY

Something new in "ticket hunts" will be staged for Xenia kiddies Monday morning by Miss Rebekah Leibengood, advance agent for Red-path Chautauqua.

Because of insufficient publicity, the ticket hunt, scheduled for Saturday morning, was postponed until Monday morning at 10 o'clock when it will be held in the form of a "hare and hound" hunt.

Instead of the youngsters being told where the tickets are hidden, they are asked to assemble near the cannon at the Court House, and will follow a confetti trail through the city to the scene of the ticket hunt. The number of tickets to be hidden depends upon the number of children present and possibly eight will be hidden for the affair, according to Miss Leibengood.

Youngsters reporting for the ticket hunt are asked to come equipped with horns, whistles or any other noise-making instruments they can find, which they will use in the hunt. Chautauqua opens here Monday afternoon on the former school lot of the old Central High School building.

MASONS TO OBSERVE ST. JOHN'S DAY AT LUTHERAN CHURCH

Coming as the result of an invitation issued by the council representing the congregation of the First Lutheran Church and the pastor, members of Xenia Lodge No. 49, F. and A. M., will observe St. John's Day by attending morning worship at that church, Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

"Toll Gates on the Road to Heaven" will be the subject of the sermon to be delivered by the Rev. Adrian G. Lebold, pastor.

Mrs. Deane Gratz, alto soloist, and members of the Masonic Quartette composed of L. F. Clark, L. A. Wagner, R. O. Copsey and R. C. Spahr will furnish special music for the occasion. Mrs. C. F. Melage will be organist.

Invitations were recently sent to all members of the Xenia Masonic Lodge and to all the Masonic bodies in Greene County by F. B. Coy, worshipful master and J. H. Whitmer, secretary of the local fraternity.

The lodgemen will assemble at the Masonic Temple Sunday at 9:45 a. m. and will march in a body to the church.

This will be the first time in the history of the First Lutheran Church, according to recent query and church records, that the Masonic Lodge will have the opportunity to observe St. John's Day in this church. Present indications are that many members of the fraternity will be present to commemorate this important day in Masonry.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN COUNTY NOT GREAT

Figures on the number of persons unemployed in three villages and one township in Greene County on last April 1 when the decennial census was taken, were released Saturday by Wilbur H. Story, Springfield, district census supervisor.

Nineteen persons living in Yellow Springs, thirteen in Jamestown and three in New Jasper Twp., usually working at a gainful occupation, were reported on the unemployment schedule by enumerators as without a job, able to work and looking for a job. Spring Valley village is without an unemployment problem as the enumerator discovered not a single able-bodied resident was out of work.

These figures on unemployment are preliminary and subject to correction and will be supplemented later by data for other classes of persons not at work at the time of the census, such as those who had a job but were sick or temporarily laid off.

HAUNTING TALES OF BOYHOOD DAYS BRING FAME TO WRITER

From the time Roark Bradford could crawl he had a playmate—Algie, a black boy.

They said: "Good maw'nin', suh," respectfully, to every jay-bird they saw.

Roark absorbed Negro religion and paganism when most white boys were being fed on little Rolle.

J. Gordon McPherson (Black Billy Sunday)

Roark Bradford

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 21.—When Roark Bradford, author of "Ol' Man Adam an' His Chillun," which is the basis for the stage play, "The Green Pastures," which won for Marc Connelly, New York dramatist, the Pulitzer prize for 1923, was a small boy in Lauderdale county, Tennessee, he used to steal away every minute possible to be with his darky companions, Algie, Ed and Sweet.

Swimming holes, prayer meetings, weddings, funerals, fish fries, Roark visited them all with his black-skinned playmates, who never forgot to tip their hats to every jaybird they saw, for all southern children know the jaybird visits the devil in hell every Friday and they aren't eager to be reported to him for lack of courtesy.

From the older Negroes on his father's plantation young Roark got his understanding of the religious background of the blacks.

Tales Haunted Him
All through high school and college the Negro tales haunted him, just waiting to be set down on paper. But before he could get to writing them the war broke out, Bradford enlisted and was sent to the Panama Canal zone. Just a few days after Lieutenant Bradford finally landed in France the armistice was signed.

Out of uniform, he went to Atlanta, Ga., with his bride, the former Miss Lydia Schorn of Columbia, Miss., and got a job on a paper there, but Bradford decided he wasn't far enough south to get the real atmosphere he needed for his brain children. From there he went to Macon, Ga., and finally arrived in New Orleans. Since no job was immediately available he took a position as managing editor of a small paper in Lafayette, in the Louisiana rice belt, which meant that, in addition to being boss, he was the whole staff.

While there he uncovered many of those delightful darkies who appear in his short stories and novels. Among them was Emil Chopin, in who could lure fish to his finger tips just by wading into the water and a hypnotist who solemnly swore he could mesmerize hens into laying double yoke eggs.

Prowls Over Wharves
When he returned to newspaper work in New Orleans, Bradford spent his spare moments prowling about the wharves and the colored section. Its outstanding characters were his friends. It was here that he met the Rev. J. Gordon McPherson, spiritual therapist, better known as Black Billy Sunday, whose homely teachings incorporated themselves into "Ol' Man Adam an' His Chillun" and still later into "The Green Pastures."

Stories concerning the Negroes with Roark Bradford's by-line began to find their way into print in New York papers, thereby enriching the Bradford fortune until he finally felt he could retire for a time to try his luck at fiction. With Mrs. Bradford he moved to a small apartment in New Orleans and began pounding his typewriter.

His second story, "Child of God" won first prize in the O. Henry award for the best short story in America in 1926. "Ol' Man Adam an' His Chillun," "This Side of Jordan" and "Ol' King David and the Phillistine Boys" followed in rapid succession.

Marc Connelly saw the dramatic possibilities of "Ol' Man Adam which "The Green Pastures" has become the sensation of Broadway. Producers of other plays can scarcely fill their houses with passes, but this simple story of colored folks is sold out for months ahead.

When Bradford returned to New Orleans, recently, a celebrity, the first thing he did was to pay a visit to Black Billy Sunday in his humble home in the Negro quarter, just "to talk things over" and pay his respects to the man who gave him so much inspiration for his book.

ARTHUR WHALEN IS SERIOUSLY HURT IN RAILROAD ACCIDENT

Arthur G. Whalen, 52, of 223 Cincinnati Ave., former mayor of Xenia, brakeman in the Pennsylvania Railroad yards here, experienced his first accident in nearly thirty years of railroad service Friday afternoon when he fell from a hopper car in the local yards and suffered a broken right arm three inches above the wrist, bruised muscles of the right leg and possible internal injuries.

When he was applying a brake when the brake chain slipped, causing him to lose his balance. He fell flat on his back rendering him temporarily unconscious. Dr. W. A. Galloway, railway surgeon, was summoned and after administering first aid had the injured man removed to his home in an ambulance. A preliminary examination did not determine whether he received internal injuries.

Mr. Whalen was a member of the first commission elected under the commission-manager form of government here and served as mayor with that commission.

MAN'S BODY WORTH ONLY 98 CENTS

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., June 21.—"You are worth 98 cents a piece." was the startling statement made by William H. Coverdale, president of the board of the Seaboard Air Line to seniors of Geneva College at commencement exercises here.

"That is what your chemical content can be bought for at any drug store," the speaker continued.

"If you have learned to think, have personal integrity, character and ideals and are willing to work, you probably can make yourself worth much more," Coverdale said.

The speaker, a graduate of the college in 1891, warned the men not to look down upon labor.

"Wherever you go," he said, "you will find men striving beside you who have done for themselves what college has done for you more easily and quickly. Poverty and want are the greatest educators in the world but they are slow tedious teachers."

ture "Three X" accompanied by his cabalistic sign.

"The first sign means A, the supreme tribunal of the order," wrote the maniac. "The second V it's secret agent. The two combined (forming a diamond), form the red diamond of Russia, a secret order all over the world."

"Anyone breaking its rules is marked for death. These men were dismissed from the order for treason. They were all our friends but came in contact with a gang of blackmailers and a drug ring and turned against us."

"One of them stole the documents mentioned before and they tried to use them for blackmailing our men here. Most of us are soldiers and every country in the world is represented in our ranks."

"Word came to us at the supreme council in Russia of the peril in the United States. Twelve of us picked one card. Mine was the king of diamonds. I was the one selected to punish and inflict death if necessary."

The two known victims of the maniac today were Joseph Mozynski and Noel Sowley, John Mozynski, brother of Joseph, received a death threat yesterday in his home in Philadelphia.

The maniac said in his letter that he had recovered the document he wanted on June 19, thereby making it unnecessary to commit the third murder he had promised.

"This third document is commercial," he continued. "Who am I? Not much. An ex-German army officer of the Wilhelm St. office, Berlin during the war. Now in the service of the Red Diamond of Russia."

"A German officer never breaks his word. Have you heard a plane? It was a monoplane, small, very fast. The plane circled twice over C. P. (College Point, the scene of the murders), Flushing, Bayside, then went away. I am called by home, and I am glad it is all over."

"I am deeply sorry for having stained your country with blood. But let this be a warning to all concerned—treason of one word means death. We are not maniacs or bandits—robbery never was the motive, and we do not belong to any dope ring."

"Quiet your people and tell them 3X is no more. If anymore letters come they are fakes. I am leaving today on my way back to Russia. Please note I do not write U. S. S. R. (Soviet government). We do not recognize them. There is no one else to begin trouble. It is settled."

"H. P. 12. W. A."

In another part of the message, the maniac paid tribute to the bravery of Miss May and Miss Ring. He also appeared hurt that he had been referred to as having "fish eyes."

"I have no fish eyes—the police have fish eyes," he wrote.

Any premium and accrued interest and the amount necessary for the payment of interest prior to their maturity shall be transferred to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund to be applied by them in the payment of principal and interest of said notes in the manner provided by law.
